WARRANTY CONDITIONS

1. Purchases of Kilews Brushless Electric Screwdrivers shall be covered by the service warranty. Any damage to the products arising from shipping/handling of products by the buyer shall not be included in the warranty, either by the Company or its distributors. Any such damage incurred during self-handled shipping shall be repaired with the buyer responsible for all parts and repair costs.
2. Malfunction of products used under normal conditions shall be repaired fully at the Company's expense during the service warranty period. However, if the said products are abroad for use in overseas factories, the Company's local branches or distributors shall charge basic repair fees. Within the warranty period, no cost for parts replacement shall be charged.
3. During the service warranty period, products sent overseas shall be charged basic repair expenses. The buyer shall present the warranty card issued by our Company and negotiate with the repair and maintenance shop. Reasonable fees shall be charged to the buyer after consideration of such factors as the number of pieces to be repaired, actual state of the screwdrivers and approximate duration of usage and work load.
4. During the service warranty period, users shall present warranty cards for requesting repair of malfunctioning products. Failure to present a complete warranty card shall be considered as expiration of the card and non-entitlement to free warranty service. Repair and maintenance in such a case would allow distributors to charge the user cost of replaced parts and all repair expenses based on conditions set by the Company.
5. Beyond the dates specified in the warranty card, all repairs of products conducted anywhere in the world shall be charged actual material and repair costs. More importantly, the Company's distributors, overseas distributors and overseas branches shall handle repair and maintenance work of all Kilews Electric Screwdriver products, including those sold by OEM-brand companies. The Company shall uphold honest client service and practical attitude to provide after-sales service to its clients.

We welcome buyer's opinions on service quality. We shall give due importance to buyers in providing a sound and complete after-sales service. Thank you for using our product.
